Prof. Preston V.L. Lindsay, Ph.D.

Course Description: This doctoral-level course is designed to provide students with an in-depth understanding of organizational diagnosis in the field of organizational psychology. The course will cover theoretical foundations, assessment methodologies, and practical applications of organizational diagnosis to enhance organizational effectiveness and performance. Students will engage in critical analysis, case studies, and hands-on projects to develop advanced skills in diagnosing organizational challenges and implementing evidence-based interventions for organizational change.

Teaching Philosophy and Pedagogical Approach: By actively embracing the pedagogical principles of Socratic learning, my instructional approach centers on the dynamic Paideia method. Throughout this course, I aim to introduce you to a spectrum of new concepts, theories, frameworks, and practices, all aligned with the designated points of interest. Beyond mere dissemination of information, my goal is to foster and guide intellectual dialogue, enhancing your grasp of the course content. The mutual expectation is straightforward: arrive ready to actively participate, contribute meaningfully, and produce high-quality work. Together, let's cultivate an environment where thoughtful engagement leads to a profound comprehension of the subject matter.

Rutgers University Mission: As the premier comprehensive public research university in the state’s system of higher education, Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey, has the threefold mission of providing for the instructional needs of New Jersey’s citizens through its undergraduate, graduate, and continuing education programs;
• conducting the cutting-edge research that contributes to the medical, environmental, social, and cultural well-being of the state, as well as aiding the economy and the state’s businesses and industries;
• and performing public service in support of the needs of the citizens of the state and its local, county, and state governments.

Each component of the university’s mission reinforces and supports the other two. As the University of New Jersey®, Rutgers is dedicated to teaching that meets the highest standards of excellence, to conducting research that breaks new ground, and to providing services, solutions, and clinical care that help individuals and the local, national, and global communities where they live.

GSAPP Mission: The mission of GSAPP is threefold: education, research/scholarship, and public service. Its goal is to prepare well-educated, qualified, and competent direct-service psychologists who have a special commitment to direct community involvement and to underserved populations—professionals who can integrate scientific knowledge with innovation in the delivery of psychological services to individuals, families, groups, and organizations. Professionals receiving a doctoral degree in psychology should be capable of extending psychological knowledge and exhibiting the high level of analytic skills and theoretical understanding needed to use existing and emerging psychological knowledge.

Core Values. We are guided by four core values that are apparent in our learning environment, centers, and clinics:

1. Academic excellence in preparing students for careers in clinical and school psychology.
2. Commitment to social justice and helping underserved populations.
3. Diversity of students trained, approaches used, theoretical orientations followed, and populations served.
4. Knowledge generation and dissemination using contemporary research approaches.

Required Readings: Readings from additional primary sources will also be provided in advance on Canvas. These readings are listed in the weekly course outline.

Assessment:
• 25% Class Participation and Discussion: Engage actively in class discussions, bringing theoretical knowledge and practical insights.
• 25% Reflection Assignments: Complete assignments related to application and synthesis of theoretical concepts, models, via weekly reflections.
• 25% Case Study Analyses: Critically analyze and present findings from real-world organizational diagnosis cases; application of theories and concepts learned from readings and lecture.
• 25% Midterm and Final Project: Assess understanding of course content through exams using case method approach.
NOTICE - BARRING JUSTIFIABLE EXTENUATING CIRCUMSTANCES, NO LATE ASSIGNMENTS WILL BE ACCEPTED. FAILURE TO SUBMIT ASSIGNMENTS ON TIME WILL RESULT A FAILING ASSIGNMENT GRADE.

Statement on Disabilities: Rutgers University welcomes students with disabilities into all of the University's educational programs. In order to receive consideration for reasonable accommodations, a student with a disability must contact the appropriate disability services office at the campus where you are officially enrolled, participate in an intake interview, and provide documentation: https://ods.rutgers.edu/students/documentation-guidelines. If the documentation supports your request for reasonable accommodations, your campus’s disability services office will provide you with a Letter of Accommodations. Please share this letter with your instructors and discuss the accommodations with them as early in your courses as possible.

To begin this process, please complete the Registration form (https://webapps.rutgers.edu/student-ods/forms/registration).

Statement on Academic Integrity: The University’s academic integrity policy, to which this class will adhere, can be reviewed at: http://academicintegrity.rutgers.edu/academic-integrity-at-rutgers/

Names and Pronouns: Class rosters are provided to the instructor with the student’s legal name. I will gladly honor your request to address you by an alternate name or gender pronoun. Please advise me of this preference early in the semester so that I may make appropriate changes to my records.

Respect for Diversity: It is my intent that students from all diverse backgrounds and perspectives be well-served by this course, that students' learning needs be addressed both in and out of class, and that the diversity that the students bring to this class be viewed as a resource, strength and benefit. It is my intent to present materials and activities that are respectful of diversity: gender identity, sexuality, disability, age, socioeconomic status, ethnicity, race, nationality, religion, and culture. Your suggestions are encouraged and appreciated.
