

Financial Aid

Overview

The cost of an undergraduate and an advanced degree can be expensive, which is why Rutgers offers a variety of financial aid opportunities for all students. For more details, visit the Office of Financial Aid (OFA)'s Rutgers Scarlet Hub. The level of support is dependent on the specific graduate program and degree status. Students may receive financial aid assistance that is merit-based, need-based, or non-need based. Applications for scholarships are available in the spring semester for the following academic year. Enrolled students will receive information via email.

Current Students:

GSAPP Clinical Department

- Bonnie Markham Dissertation Award
 - Amount: Up to $4,500
 - Type: Dissertation/Research Expense Reimbursement

Clinical Department: The scholarship is intended for a student whose dissertation pertains to effective psychological services focused on health promotion that is relevant, but not necessarily limited in its application, to the independent practice of psychology in the private sector. Examples are research on interventions related to the interface of psychology and primary care medicine, on collaborative approaches between psychologists and other types of health practitioners, on cross-cultural issues in immigrant families related to psychological and physical health, and so forth.

- Nancy McWilliams and Stanley Messer Psychodynamic Endowed Fund
 - Amount: Up to $4,100
 - Type: Tuition Remission

Clinical Department: These funds are available to support Clinical Psychology students in the area of psychodynamic theory, research and practice.

- GSAPP Student Assistantship Endowed Fund
 - Amount: Up to $1800
 - Type: Stipend

Clinical Department: The Fund will provide annual stipend for a GSAPP student(s) to work on a specific project/area under the direction and supervision of a current faculty member(s).

GSAPP School Department

- GSAPP Student Assistantship Endowed Fund
 - Amount: Up to $1800
 - Type: Stipend

School Department: The Fund will provide annual stipend for a GSAPP student(s) to work on a specific project/area under the direction and supervision of a current faculty member(s).

- Kenneth and Linda Schneider Scholarship in School Psychology
 - Amount: Up to $3,000
 - Type: Tuition Remission

School Department: Academic Merit

GSAPP-Wide:

- Edith and Neimark Dissertation Award-Autism
 - Amount: Up to $2000
 - Type: Dissertation/Research Expense Reimbursement
 - Program: GSAPP Doctoral Student

GSAPP Scholarship Committee: This award is for dissertation related expenses. This award is intended to support dissertation projects being conducted at the DDDC only.

- Michael Fowlin Endowed Scholarship
 - Amount: Up to $2200
 - Type: Tuition Remission
 - Program: GSAPP Doctoral Student

GSAPP Scholarship Committee: The Scholarship is intended for an incoming or full time graduate student with interest in adolescents.

- Rebecca Fine Endowed Scholarship
 - Amount: Up to $2160
 - Type: Tuition Remission
 - Program: GSAPP Doctoral Student

GSAPP Scholarship Committee: This donor has an interest in Psychoanalysis. This award is based on Merit.

- Trauma Endowed Scholarship
 - Amount: Up to $1100
 - Type: Tuition Remission
 - Program: GSAPP Doctoral Student

GSAPP Scholarship Committee: General support in the area of trauma related to children, adults, and veterans, including but not limited to child abuse, military combat trauma, military sexual assault, adult sexual assault, emergencies and natural disasters.

- Dean's Academic Excellence Award
 - Amount: In-State Tuition Remission
 - Type: In-State Tuition Remission
 - Program: GSAPP Doctoral Student

GSAPP Scholarship Committee: Based on Merit and Financial Need Record of academic excellence, student statement of financial need, and information from the Financial Aid application (FAFSA) are used to make determinations.